Afternoon Tea has been a well-loved treat for centuries. Caroline Astor, the mother of the St. Regis founder John Jacob Astor IV, was also a fan and adopted this tradition as her very own. It was a hallowed tradition of the Astors and the opportunity to host intimate gatherings with their closest associates, often as a dignified prelude to more noteworthy social events. Today, afternoon tea remains a treasured fixture at St. Regis. Guests can enjoy each city's distinct interpretations of this legacy inspired by the respective traditions of each destination.
